

ICBC increases loans to small firms PDF转换可能丢失图片或格式， 建议阅读原文

https://www.100test.com/kao_ti2020/466/2021_2022_ICBCincrease_c67_466487.htm The Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (ICBC), the nations biggest commercial bank, said Tuesday it had granted 46.3 billion yuan (5.8 billion U.S. dollars) in loans to small firms in the first quarter this year. The ICBC said the non-performing rate of loans to small businesses was below the average of all lending. Some Chinese banks balk at extending loans to small businesses as they are commonly seen as credit risks, but the government is encouraging loans as small firms are contributing to economic growth. The ICBCs outstanding loans to small firms stood at 102.3 billion yuan at the end of last month. These loans surged 70 percent in 2005. The bank said in a statement its "key support" would be given for enterprises that boast quality products, advanced technologies, strong competitiveness in the market and sound prospects. It would "strictly curb" projects not in line with government policies and industrial development. China categorizes companies with annual sales of less than five million yuan as small enterprises. 100Test 下载频道开通，各类考试题目直接下载。详细请访问 www.100test.com